The Directors beg to call the attention of the public to the following extract from the last half-yearly report:—

"The present position of the Sydrow Jusurance Company may be gathered from the following statement of facts.—
It was established in October 1855, with a subscribed capital of £25,000, of which £25,000 was called up. In April 1859, or within two years and a half of its establishment, the capital, including the reserve fund and the contingent rund, has increased to £36,952 28, 8d, being an addition of nearly 50 per cent. The increase is not due to a fortunate exemption from losses, for during the same period the Company has paid the sum of £12 799 7s, 91, in eatisfaction of claims arising from frees, and has divided among its shareholders the sum of £4824 6s, 6d. in half-yearly dividends, at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum on the capital paid the sum of £4824 factors that the actions has resined by at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum on the capital past of the indirect advantage that the colosy has gained by the large reduction that took place in the rates charged for fire incurance by other offices immediately on the establishment of this Company, cannot be accurately estimated; but considering the fact that £36,866 14s, has been paid in premiums to this office alone, which would otherwise have been lost to the colony, and that a reduction of u, wards of 25 per cent, was made in the rates, it is evident that this community must have gained nearly £50,000 by the establishment of this Company."

A DORESS PROM THE COMMITTEE appointed at a Public Meeting, held in the Infanta' Schoolroom, Castlereagh-street, Sydney, on 5th April, 1858, for the cetablishment of a Presbyterian College within the Sydney University.

University.

TO THE PRESETTERIANS OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

Your attention is called to the subjoined prespectus for information as to the principles and objects of the proposed Presbyterian College.

By the Act of Legislature, 18th Victoria No. 37, relative to the establishment and endowment of such College within the Sydney University, it is provided that, previous to application being made to the Government, £10,000 must be subscribed; of which som £4000 must be paid, and the remaining £6000 secured to the satisfaction of the Governor, to be paid within three years. The Act further provides that so soon as these conditions shall have been compiled with, a great of £10,000 shall be made from the Treasury for building expenses, and an additional sum of £500 annually, in perpetuity, in aid of the salary of the Principal of anch College.

The Committee carnetty hope that Presbyterians with, a grant of £10,000 shall be made from the Treasury for building expenses, and an additional sum of £500 annually, in perpetuity, in aid of the salary of the Principal of such College.

The Committee earnestly hope that Presbyterians of severy name will subscribe lowards the establishment of such a noble institution. Such institutions are the glory of the mother country. Every Presbyterian in the colony who inherits the spirit of his foreafters, and who desires the advancement of pure religion and cound neefal learning, is interested in this undertaking. Fellow Prebyterians—we appeal to your liberality in an general and agone a case. Immediate and energetic efforts are necessary in order to success. We trust, therefore, we shall have your active and sealous support. So soon as the required amount shall have been subscribed, a meeting of the subscribers will take place in Sydney (at which votes by propy will be receivable), in the appointment of the elective members of the Senatus, in accordance with the constitution of the College, and thereafter immediate steps will be taking in commencing the work of building.

By reference to the prospectus, it will be seen that these who contribute to the erection of the College, £10 will have one vote; £25, two votes, £50, an additional vote. Terms of payment—one-fourth cash, and the remainder at one, two, and three years. So that any unberriber can become qualified to vote by payment, in the first instance, or £2 los. A list of subscribers will shortly be published. It is desirable that public meetings should be held and local committees formed in the country districts, in further ance of this important movement.

Subscriptions to be forwarded to J. ALEXANDER, Beq., M.I.C.; or THOMAS BARKER, Eq., Honorary Treasurers, Sydney.

WILLIAM LUMSDAINE, Honorary

Prispectus of a Prashytarian College in connexion with the Bydney University.

It is proposed to establish, in terms of the Colonial Act 18th Vict., 37, a Presbyterian College within the University of Sydney, to be named 8th Andrew's College.

In this college students may reside while attending the University, and may three enjoy the advantages of dome-tic expervision, systematic religious instruction, and tutorial superintendence in their studies. In this College there will be an opportunity of supelementing the curriculum of the University, at present confessedly incomplete, and so of providing a scheme of candemic training similar to that enjoyed in Scotland.

As a distinct department in the College, there will be a providing a scheme of scademic training similar so uniqued in Soutland.

As a distinct department in the College, there will be a Theological Faculty, and an efficient staff of teachers, whereby young men may be prepared for the Christian ministry.

All Presbyterians are intrested to unite cordinally and asslously in proseesiing this great and important object. The purity, stability, and the extension of Presbyterianism in New South Wales, and the moral and spiritual interests of generations to come, are involved in it. In drawing up in New South Wales, and the moral and spiritual interests of generations to come, are involved in it. In drawing up the constitution of this College, and in establishing the same, every possible guarantee shall be provided that the dootriess taught from the theological chair or chairs in the said Presbyterian College shall, in all time coming, be in fall conformity with the Westminster standards.

The following suggestions are respectfully offered, to be considered by a public meeting, open to all Presbyterians favourable to this object.

1. That the College buildings shall be erected on a portion of the University reserve, set apart for that purpose by the Government. The said buildings shall consist of class-rooms, public hall, library, apartments for students, and residences for the principal and such other officers of the College, as may be afterwards determined.

We intend giving every week a condensed report of the entire proceedings of the Colonial Parliament, so that parties who may not have time to peruse the Daily Journals may obtain, in a concise form, all that has been done during the week; and also to publish the entire list of important Divisions, in order that our readers may see which side, on different questions, their representatives vote.

On General Information, such as P-lice, and the ordinary topics of the day, we shall give a digested report, and in short, we propose to make The Sydney Disparch a complete newspaper.

As an advertising medium, a well-conducted Weekly Journal is always considered more advantageous than a Daily Paper, as the vest majority have more time to peruse a Weekly than they can possibly devote to a Daily.

"Bit,—Bi gives me great pleasure to forward to you this testimental of the wonderful efficacy of your truly invaluable medicines. I suffered for a considerable period from a never a state of ergraphelas, which at length settled in my leg, and resisted all medical treatment. My sufferings were very great, and I almost despetred of a cure, when I was advised to have recourse to year Gintenset and Pills, and to follow the rules for diet, dre, as prescribed in your printed directions. I did so without delay, and am happy to say that the result was eminently secons ful, for they have effected a radical our of my leg and restored me to the enjoyment of perfect health and strength. I shall ever geak with the plue success.

I am, Sir, your obliged and faithful servant, (Signed)

Young Men's Chaistian Association, -The members of the Vocco Mer's Critistian Association.—The members of the debating class of the above-named association sessembled last exeming, for the purpose of discussing a question which, for some time past, has been agitating the public raind, namely, "Is it prodent to permit the unlimited immigration of Chinamen into this solony." The debate was opened on the negative side of the question, in a speech which evinced considerable acquintance with the subject. The argument was, that Chinamen could not be of any great beinefit to the colony, as their chief object is to acquire as much wealth on the gold-fields as possible, and then return to their own country. It was also strongly objected to on meral ground; and lastly, viewed in a political light, as being incompatible with national safety. The opening speech was followed by various remarks on both sides of the question; and the interest of the uncerting was kept up until the limits of the time allowed, when a motion for adjournment was put and carried unanimously. The question therefore stands adjourned to the next fortnightly meeting.

TIO COUNTRY AGENTS.—The Agents for the SYDNEY MORNING HERALD are requested to furnish their quarterly Statements of Accounts previous to the 21st lastant. June, 1858.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

WE have received several communications in reply to the Rev. Mr. Stanley's letter. Upon reflection, it will be seen how impossible it is to open our columns to a correspondence on the Unitarian con-troversy. We admitted Mr. Stanley's letter, because he complained of a personal grievance; and shall feel bound to publish any explanations the Com-mittee of the Bethel may think proper to offer; but not of a polemical nature.

The Sydney Morning Beraid.

SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 1858.

In the Legislative Council, yesterday, the debate or sumed by Mr. HOLDEN, who supported the Bill. Mr. JONES, Mr. NORTON, Mr. ALLEN, Mr. BLAKE, and Dr. A'BECKETT followed on the same side. The bill was opposed by the President and by Mr. Dras Thouson; and the debate was further adjourned till

1. A return of all moneys paid by the Colonial Tressurer since the expiration of the votes of credit granted by this House (which extended to the 30th April last, or for the past four months of 1858), distinguishing these payments which were included in the expenditure authorised by these votes of credit from those which have been made without any Legislative authority.

2. A copy of the minutes of the Executive Council (if any) which may have been passed upon the subject of issues out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of the colony, in 1858, without Legislative sanction.

The question was discussed at length, and it was advance of the votes of supply, had been expended by Secretary, by quotations from a Blue Book, which seemed to show that such a system, though not sanc-tioned, had been practised at home. The Bathurst School of Arts Bill was read a third and several amendments were made in it. The sche-dules were postponed till Tuesday next. The House went into committee on the Chinese Immigration Bill. The Colonial Secretary moved that the rate to be paid by any Chinamen immigrating to the port should be £10 per head, instead of £3, as originally proposed. A very long debate took place, in which the question as to whether the tax should be of the immigration, was raised. The Government sup-ported the bill. On these different grounds most of the members addressed the House, but very generally they took the different phases of the question we have marked out, and an abbreviated report of the opinions expressed will be found in our reporting columns. At twenty minutes past eleven, Mr. Hoposon moved an adjournment which was negatived by 22 to 14. After further dishead, as proposed in the clause, was rejected by a ma £5, was also rejected, under a majority of 23 to 14. and carried by a majority of 20 to 15. The rest of the business was postponed, and the House adjourned at ten minutes past one o'clock.

WE generally leave our contemporaries to enjoy the full effect of their strictures upon the Herald, without contradicting their misstatements, or refuting their conclusions. Nothing is so stupid as controversies among newspapers. But to the Argus we have a few words to say, leaving the London Times to defend itself.

Our contemporary rarely refers to remarks on the affairs in Victoria by the Sydney Press, but as to a sort of intrusion which may be half-tolerated,—as a kind of well-meaning imperti-nence;—as a laughable species of literary knighterrantry, which the magnates of Victoria sometimes condescend to look at if not wise employed. This is, of course, otherwise employed. otherwise employed. Inis is, of course, all very grand; but it does not alter the fact that there are people, who do not live in Victoria, yet who know its history and idiosyncrasy just as well, if not better, than the gentlemen who assume the right to patronise all its extravagances, and who are pledged to identify themselves with all its realities and absundations.

its vanities and absurdities. The Argus is a great journal;—its rise and progress may well occasion some little professional pride. Lately its political position has been something anomalous. The leading columns have advocated one set of principles its senior proprietor—the man that was the Argus, has been most zealous in the advocacy of another; still it is a journal whose weight in the community cannot be wholly destroyed save by a disingenuous, vacillating, and truck ling policy-by crawling on the earth, to catch the distant murmurs of the mob, rather than by oldly advocating the lasting interests of the country-a thing never likely to happen.

But we must look back a little. Our contemporary refers to the Ballaarat riots. He will find the Press of that day expressed perfect confidence in the good sense and high principles of the people. That outbreak, however, revealed not only that there was an idle, but that there was a revolutionary party in Victoria. In the opinion of the best informed of the Victorians, nothing but the firmness of the military saved the colony from a sanguinary conflict, even in the streets of Melbourne. When the arms of the brutish soldiers had put down the emeute, and captured its loyal flags; and when the Attorney-General of that day, with a courage and perseverance which will be told to his immortal honour, put the leaders on their trial, the Court was besieged with their supporters. Cowed or infected by these demonpresume tracking will now be out of the question.—Hawarra Mercury.

Rrock and Cartle for Victoria.—We have been favoured by Mr. James M'Cubbin, of the Denison Inn, Taibragar, with the following statement of the number of sheep, which have passed there for Victoria within the past few eveks:—Mr. Garlle, 17,000; Mr. Ramer, 33,000; Mr. Clark, 20,000; Mr. O'Sullivan, 10,000; Mr. Ramer, 33,000; Mr. Clark, 20,000; Mr. Jones, 7000; Mr. Ramer, 33,000; Mr. Clark, 20,000; Mr. Tyson, 32,000. Making a College of the past of the ment, we leave our contemporary's reports and his own comments to speak. A multitude des-cribed as consisting of several thousands, after inflammatory speeches, march up to the Parlia-ment House, and insult a branch of the Legisment House, and insult a branch of the Legis-lature by affixing "To let" on the door—a beautiful joke no doubt—to be followed by another facetious notice, in due time, on the mansion of the Governor, and when the time comes, on the Supreme Court. Of course, when by the aid of public indignation and bad wea-ther the repetition of similar exploits is prevented, it is easy to describe the whole thing as a farce. If, however, needless alarm has been created, who is to blame? We drew our impressions from the Argus necessages, whether they were from the Argus newspaper, whether they were natural, our readers may judge. We, of course, are not able to say that the by-ends attributed to our own remarks can ever be traced in the columns of our accuser.

How came the Argus, however, to propagate the impressions of the demonstration, so out of proportion to its significance. Was it, we may ask, hostility to Mr. O'SHAWASSY which blinded the Argus to the natural consequences of re-proaches which glanced from the Premier to the Melbourne populace? We are now aware that the Argus has changed its opinion, but the fol-lowing was its view of the case on the 2nd of

"Possibly Mr. O'Shanassy may form some notion, from the demonstration of last night, of what he has accomplished in appealing to the vulgar passions of an unreasoning mob, as he did, in effect, when he denounced the Council as a body so obstructive as to require to be either radically reformed or sliminsted altogether from the Constitution. It was under the sanction of the menace of the first officer of the Crown, that the vagabonds of Melbourne, two or three thousand strong, took possession of the court of the Parliament Houses, nailed insulting placards against their very walls, brandished flage before them that meant either nothing or treason, and indeliged in declamation, violent and vapid, against all sound principles of constitutional legislation. We do not suppose Mr. O'Shanassy ever designed or contemplated this rising of the serum of our back streets. But if a Prime Minister give the signal, why should not the mob respond?"

The following we select among several letters given by the Argus on the same subject on the given by the Argus on the same subject on the 3rd of June:—

3rd of June:—

"To the Editor of the Argus.

"Sir,—Having been an eye-witness of the proceedings of the mob last night, in the Parliament Reserve, and an attentive listener to the inflammatory language employed by the speakers, I can safely assert that several times during the evening the excitement was so great that a very trifling incident would have sufficed to impel the assemblage to the commission of an act of violence. As we are threatened with a repetition of this 'demonstration' on Monday next, permit me to suggest to the proper authorities that they should invite the friends of law and order to enrol themselves as special constables, in order to make such a counter demonstration as hundreds of your readers, like myself, took part in in London, on the memorable

TENTE OF APRIL 1848.

The Argus quotes the following extract from a Victorian country paper, June 5th:

"The sovereignty of the people before the law must be preserved intact, and demonstrations like that of "The sovereignty of the people before the law must be preserved intact, and demonstrations like that of Tuesday night are neither more nor less than treason against the State, and must be either abandoned or put down. Where would have been the power of the leaders of that multitude to repress any incendiary or riotous action, if a chance spark or casualty had provoked a disturbance? We do not forget what has already transpired both in England and America under the influence of similar night orgies. The maniace under Lord George Gordon, and the incendiaries at Montreal, may on any similar occasion find spt imitators when the spirit of misohief is abroad, and the lawless passions of men are excited by these torchight assemblings in a crowded city. We cannot believe the Ministry or the most infatuated popularity-hunter in either House would lend their countenance to the originators of such movements as we are allading to, and we trust the good sense of the people at large will urge them to demand of those in power that some stringent means shall be adopted to prevent license from diagracing liberty."

The Aryus can be but little informed, it does

The Argus can be but little informed, it doe not know that precisely in this way re-volutions are begun, whether for good or evil. The disastrous convulsions of 1848—entailing on Burope a second reign of despotism, which almost seems sanctified by its necessity—sprang up everywhere by the activity of a small portion of the idle, disorderly, and forward of the people. Nowhere was the heart of society with the movements which convulsed those us countries, or the result would not be what w

It was the Mohawks of Boston who struck the knell of English power in America; it was a few base women and boys that paralyzed the civil power in Lord George Gordon's riots. Even in the great revolution of France, a small minority, bold, reckless, and sanguinary, struck the milliens with terror, and continued to triumph until they cut one another's throats.

We hear with scorn the eternal platitudes about the order-loving, law-abiding spirit of the people—it is true enough, but it is grossly irrelevant. The people unorganized, unarmed, without discipline, having their own families or property to are liable to panic—for they are consc isolation and weakness—and may be held down by a mere handful of scoundrels, if once they get the upper hand. The utter lack of any means of protection against these extravagances is a bad and dangerous feature in our cities, and will one day cost us dear. There are of course incendiaries whose vocation it is to excite jealousy and who are always threatening the peaceable inhabitants with violence. They are useful auxiliaries to our political speculators, and therefore find countenance and protection in the Parliament itself. They are not so worthy of blame as the men who vindicate their violence, or who censure it so that approbation is really understood, and not condemnation. No object in creation offers such a specimen of mean ness as a man of education and station who, to obtain a cheer at a gathering, will flatter every impudent and seditious demagogue threatening the peace of the country.

As to the conclusions to be drawn from riot intended to overawe the Legislature, reinforced by a threat of 20,000 diggers ready to invest the city, we incline to the opinion of the Argus before the date of our article, rather than to its stric-tures since — that capitalists will not very readily confide in the credit of a country where such demonstrations occur. There are many among the Victorian people who have shown a disregard of law,—not general we hope, but at least not unpopular. The sanguinary riots of Ballaarat,—the acquittal of the rioters amidst demonstrations of sympathy in the metropolis; the restriction of the right of denizenship, directly in opposition to the laws of the Empire,—the maltreatment of unoffending foreigners,—the elaborate formation of convention to overawe the legislature, -and itself in street gatherings and torchlight pro-cessions.

Thank heaven, the Herald is not obliged to sell itself to every mendacious hypo-critical exponent of the five points of the charter, critical exponent of the five points of the charter, whose only remedy for moral and social grievance is the control of city gatherings. We do not believe that radical schemes of Government will bring about the contentment and repose which their advocates proclaim. We find lawless movements, violent attacks on personal liberty, the public support of great social iniquities, and the practice of resorting to force, we will not say as the result, but at all events the frequent attendants, of the loudest liberalism. Riots are no the result, but at all events the frequent attend-ants, of the loudest liberalism. Riots are no novelties in America. Rowdyism is a word coined to express an American pastime, where they have in its full swing the scheme of a Government lately sulogised by the Argus. As to our "fears" we profess to entertain them. They are the result of reading, reflection, and a tolerably wide acquaintance with colonial life; we have fears, not of the people but of the we have fears, not of the people, but of the scamps and swindlers who usurp their name.

re-appear without any practical result is that relating to the Municipalities Bill. This measure, originated by the PARKER Ministry, and sure, originated by the FARRER Ministry, and all but passed in a former session, has been lingering in that limbo of legislation—a committee of the Assembly—for several months. We presume it is a point of honour with the Ministry to stop every measure that may attempt to out-strip the Electoral Bill; that in case any accito stop every measure that may attempt to outstrip the Electoral Bill; that in case any accident should happen to this last, the country may smart from the suspension of all useful reforms. If, however, nothing is to be done until the Electoral Bill becomes law, we shall have full scope for the exercise of patience. We have been informed by a member of the House, who has made a careful calculation founded upon the past progress, the Electoral Bill will not get out of committee in less than twelve years and six months; we should, however, advise that this reckoning be received with some caution. this reckoning be received with some caution. We fear that he has not accounted for lec-way, and has reckoned that the committee and has reckoned that the committee will be equally diligent throughout, as in the first energy of their legislative zeal. The fact is, the delay of the Municipal Bill is a real practical grievance. Not only has great mischief resulted from the absence of a proper authority to protect the towns intended to have municipalities, but we are losing the advantage of plentiful labour, by which improvements could be effected on reawhich improvements could be effected on rea-sonable terms. We are told that many persons are out of employ, and, allowing for great exaggeration by those who have assumed to patronise the working classes, it is very possible that there is considerable room for complaint; but if this bill were passed into law, there would not be a spare hand in the country. The working classes, who have been taught to look to the Electoral Bill as the remedy for all sorts of grievances, have never expressed the slightest sympathy with those measures which would have a direct and instantaneous effect in stimulating the labour market, and opening new spheres of profitable employ-ment. If the representatives had been half as much interested in the real welfare of the country as in securing their own personal objects would have passed into law. It must not be forgotten that even when it shall receive the Royal assent, some considerable time will elapse before the municipalities can organise, before the municipanties can organise, and get into working order, and we have little doubt that the thing will be so managed that the operation of the bill will be delayed until every hand in the country is fully occupied—in short, until all those indirect benefits which it would now confer will cease to be available. One great good will, we expect, result from municipal institutions — the power they will possess to give employment when the seasons and other circumstances interrupt many occupations. In this way they have often been found useful in Great Britain, and thus an advantage has been conferred upon municipalities by effecting improvements at a moderate rate, and not less so upon the labour-ing classes who have had, if not the highest wages, yet convenient employment, when they might otherwise have been idle or destitute. These are considerations, however, not likely to weigh with the Assembly, or to interest out-ofdoor supporters of the Ministry, who, except they can bring in the old slang, are for the most

To the Editor of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Sta,—My attention has been called to a leading strick in your paper of the Ilth instant, respecting a former Governor of this colony, Sir R. Darling. I have of course nothing to do with your opinions of the conduct of the late Governor, but I am sure you will have no objection to be put right with respect to any facts connected with the history of the colony, that you may have mis-stated from not being thoroughly sequinited with events that occurred more than thirty years ago. For instance, you say "the great subject of attack upon General Darling was the treatment of two soldiers, Thompson and Sudds, who, attempting to escape from military service by committing theft, received a sentence in the Supreme Court. General Darling thought he might make their punishment more impressive, and added certain public ceremonis of his own. The men were taken on parade and stripped of their uniform, collars of spiked iron wen put round their neaks, and their legs were lade with chains. A few days after this, Sudds died, and his death was attributed to a latent disease of the live, which grief and the pressure of his irons, combined, had aggravated into fatal intensity. This became the topic of Parliamentary discussion. General Darling was accused of murder by his enemies, but he wavindicated by the British Ministry from the imputation of cruelty and injustice. The offence of the nea, considering the circumstances of the country, was certainly very serious, although no one can vindicate the arbitrary aggravation of a judicial sentence." Now, General Darling, being thoroughly opposed is politica to the Government that held office under the first Reform Bill, had therefore no consideration to expect from them, and, in fact, received none. He owed mothing to the Ministry of the day; on the contrary, he was left by the Whigs to defend himself from his renemies as he best could. On reference to the Blue Book of the Imperial Parliament of 1st Septembe

Its Reptember, 1835.

As to "the collars of spiked iron" and "the legs laden with chains," which you say "aggravated the disease of Sudda into fatal intensity," you will find by the cridence in the blue book that the so-called "spikes" on the collars were two short blumt bars on the outer edge of them, that the chains on the legs were only 14 lbs. weight, and that this collar and these chains were only on Sudds a few hours!"

Will, of course, trip it on "the light instastic toe;"
To appear elegant and easy, you must invoke brother Jacobs.

Or your bright visions of joy may be tared to grim we: There's no firm in this city for make, price, or fashion, With this mart of care gems can for one moment compare; So, whatever your wants—age, rank, stale, or condition, in dreat—for the street, or the ball-room—you can qu'ckly get there.

So may the rove of Old England, the shamrook of Ireland,
The thistle of Scotland, and the lily of France,
Unitedly flourish in these Australian regions,
And all join the Freemasons', St. John's night, in the dance:
May peace and prosperity reign in all nations,
Wars cease, and all hasbands return to their wives;
May MORRIS JACOBS' success be drank by every Freemeason.

Mr. ROBERTSON would ask whether, when they saw these people coming among the coloniate in such overwhelming numbers, they were not justified in protecting themselves from being swamped by them! He could tell the hon. member for Baltarst (Mr. Sutto) that the Government were not liberal enough to away the coloniate in such overwhelming numbers, they were not justified in protecting themselves from the were inofficially in the head been requested to furnish a larger amount of police protection in the districts in which these people had located themselves. The coloniate therefore, would be acting justifiably in checking their immigration, for, if they did not, they would have European immigration greatly reduced. They (the Government) believed that to passing this measure they were protecting the best interests of the country, that they were saving the morals of its people from contamination. For hoorisality, but in thousands; and he thought if the Chines poured into England in numbers bearing the same proportion to its population as they did to the people of this country, the English sation would soon put a stop to it.

Mr. SUTTOR rose in replanation. In reference to the observations which had fallen from the last speaker, to the effect that honorable members desired the introduction of Chinese for the purpose of lessening the value of labour, he denied this, inasmed, as for himself he never had up to the present time employ, as for himself he never had up to the present time employ, as for himself he never had up to the present time employ, as for himself he never had up to the present time employ, as for himself he never had up to the present time employed to the protect the purpose of lessening the value of labour, he denied that they are desired to thouse the most open to the purpose of the second of the purp prohibitory clauses, and to that he unfinchingly adhered, although he would be glid to sea a billion, but as there was no chasee of that, he must vote for the highest prohibitory clause. And to array that out he would move for the recommitment of the bull for the purpose of the relative duction of the amendment of the hom, member for Cock and Westmoreland (Mr.Jamison), to the effect that no ship be permitted to bring more Chinese on board than at the ratio of one Chineman to every registered ten tons measurement of said ship. The point to consider was whether it was desirable to encourage the point to consider was whether it was desirable to encourage the point to consider was whether it was desirable to encourage the chinese came in large numbers without their views most undesirable race to permit to come smongst them. The Chinese came in large numbers without their views most objectionshie, but if they came accompanied by their views their arrival here would be more objectionable iii. He would vote for the most stringent measure.

Mr. LNE looked on the bill as most un-English, and he looked noon the introduction of Chinese as beneficial is the colony rather the same time if it was shown that such immigration was injurious he would support the Government.

Mr. PARK 55 could not would wunderstand upon what ground those who had consistently opposed the introduction of our own countrymen under sentence could now support the influx of a class of people with conditions in every way more objectionable. Better far would into the constitution of the people with conditions in every way more objectionable. Better far would into the constitution of the people with conditions in every way more objectionable. federal measure, or in other words to assimilate it as nearly as possible to the laws of the other colonies, and unless this were done he would endeavour to defeat the bill on the third reading. He concluded by intimating his intention to vote for the amendment of the hon. member for Cook and Westmoreland (Mr. Jamison).

Mr. MACARTHUR agreed with nearly all that had fallen from the last speaker. It was the glory of this country that it had as partially been involvate its true British character, and it had frequently been absolute its true British character, and it had frequently been absolute its true British character, and it had frequently been absolute its true British character, and it had frequently been absolute its true British character, and it had frequently been absolute its true British character and eventually degenerate into a semi-asiatic race! The dispusting mode in which these people lived and herded together, without wives or observance of the ordinary forms of decency, was of itself sufficient to warrant the adoption of a stringent measure such as the one proposed, and he would therefore wote for the amendment of the hon. member of the Government now to make this a prohibitory measure. As for the indirantion of the hon, member for West Camden, he hought it came with a very bad grace, seeing that the down member was one of the first to employ Chinese servants in his household. Then with regard to the habits of the Chinese, he hon, member for west Camden, he hought it came with a very bad grace, seeing that the hon, member of member was one of the first to employ Chinese servants in his household. Then with regard to the habits of the Chinese, he cannot be very best authorities that when in employment they were remarkable for cleasliness, discipline, and industry—it may be a supplied that the servant of the form the very best authorities that when the motion was negatived by a majority of 22 to 1.

Mr. MACARTHUR explained that it was quite true he had a Chinese hotman in his service, but that in Chinese, but strongly edjected to such a probibitive measure as war prepased at present; he, therefore, could not support the amendment of the hon, member for Cook and Wastmoreland. Mr. SUTTOR thought as a new question had arise by the proposal to introduce a residential fee, it was time to adjourn the debate.

Mr. HAY suggested that it would be found more convenient if this were treated as a blank, as bon, members might believe that its moving to see arbettiating "ten."

Mr. COYPER had no objection to this course; in fact, he had proposed this very step on a former evening.

Mr. ROTTON saw so reason for treating this as a blank, since the effect would be to postpone the matter. It was well known that some hon, members had stated their intention to change this from a restrictive to a prohibitory measure. The House had already decided that the measure should be rejarded as a restrictive one, and it was but a wards of time for hon, themselve the same of the proposed of the purpose of raising such a sum as might rower the cost to which the colony might be put by the advent of these people amongst us. To carry out this principle, he had hed clauses draws similar to those in force in Visitoria, and agies they were carried its nomething like the shape in which he presented them, he certainly should not vots for the third reeding of the bill.

Mr. ROTTON insisted that the Chinese new in the colony contributed largely to its revenue. It was calculated that there were 1000 of them on the Western gold-fields, and these pild at the very least 250,000 a year by their gold licenses and export duty. The House divided on the proposal to omit the word "three." the question being "that the word proposed to be omitted, stand part of the question," with the following result:

business has twice been much obstracted by the absence of a properly qualified interpreter. In one instance, a prosecution for gold stealing, it was found impossible to proceed with the case, which involved the evidence of several Chinese, in consequence of the difficulty experienced by the usual interpreter, now a prisoner in the gool, in translating the dialect used by the first winese called by the Crown, and the case was therefore postponed until the next Quarter Sessions. In another case, one of horse-stealing, it was found impossible to translate the svidence of a Chinaman named Mial, to whom the horse had been sold, and but for the very conclusive nature of the rest of the evidence adduced, the case must have fallen to the ground. It would appear that the dialect spoken by the natives of Amoy is a kind of potois, and differs entirely from that spoken at Hongkong, which again is quite unintelligible to a native of Cantoc.

Ball IN Honour ov TAP Parness Royal's Manaloz.—The Public Ball and Supper, to celebrate the marriage of the Princess Royal, came off with great feld, on Wednesday last. All were loud in praises of the evening's entertainment, which, with one consent, was pronounced to be the mest successful affair ever got up in the district.

Ovra Wintern.—After a bitterty cold week, accompanied by a severe froat, we are now enjoying comparatively mild weather. In the early part of lest week there was every appearance of a heavy fall of snow, of which the western blasts which had prevailed for some days previously appeared to be the precursors. In fact, there was a heavy sleet in the neighbourhood of King's Plains and the higher belt of country with which they are connected, but it dissolved as it fell. Appearances at present indicate a comparatively mild winter.

The Carangara Status Goorgan, existing Company, has strived at Sydney, with seventy tone of plant and material, and will shortly be on their way to Bathurat. It has not yet transpired in what particular locality the subject, and great fears a

(From the Gouldum papers of Wednasday.)

VISIT OF THE SHERIFF.—Mr. J. O'Neil Breman, Sheriff of New South Wales, arrived in town yesterday, on an official visit. His primary object is to make an investigation into the circumstances connected with the late escape of the prisoner Wilson from the Gouldum gaol. The examination will commence this morning at half-past ten o'clock. While here the Sheriff will take the opportunity of making arrangements for putting in force the provisions of the Hard Labour Act, lately passed. We are not aware that say plan has yet been decided on for the out-door employment of the prisoners in Gouldum. No public works being at present in progress in the vicinity, some work will, probably, be found for them in the grounds attached to the gaol.

Acticultum—The late favourable weather has enabled the farmers in these districts to set to work in earnest in preparing for the coming season. On all hands great activity prevails, and present appearance are very favourable. The appearance of the country generally is greatly improved by the last falls of rain; but we regret to learn that there is little hope of a good supply of feed for the cattle before the spring, the young grass which had sprung up after the late showers having been out down by the succeeding frosts.

Sydney Labour Market.

The immigrants per Catilian, have been on hire this week. The married couples have found copagements at about the late quotations. The single mon have gone off at about £30 to £35 per annum. Our general demand for labour keeps up with the supply at former rates. The wet weather has retarded business, but nevertheless a large number of men have been forwarded for shepherding and other work to Fort Curtis, Morton Say, Maitland, Goulburn, Bathurst, &c. This market has improved by the arrival of the Castillan with upwards of 400 British immigrants, about half of whom are under the prepaid regulations, and of the remainder only one-third are men for hire. Many engagements have been made this week, at a shade under the current rates, but there is an anistrial change in wages, as the daugnost of the best kind not too abundant. Or the property of the post kind of too abundant.

Since my last report the Castilian immigrant ship has arrived. The passengers were hired on board yesterday. Single men are engaged at £35 to 554 per annum, married couples at £40. The demand for single men as agricultural labourers is in excess of the supply. There are a number of satishe farm servants who, in many instances, are ineligible on account of their young families. The shipments of these articles, also of oatmeal, barley, and split peas, show a considerable diminution for the first quarter of this year to the whole of the colonies, which must give a great impetus to prices, as stocks are by no means large.

OILMEN'S STORES are in steady demand; jams and bottled fruits command a ready sale, with a limited supply.

TITLE—Grant by purchase from the Crown to the present

ORT and CO. have been instructed to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pittstreet, or WEDNESDAY, 30th June, at 11 o'clock, A CHOICE AGRICULTURAL FARM, of 77 acres, situate on Mitchell's Laland, Manning River.

 There are about 70 ACRES of RICH BRUSH LARD on this farm, about 10 ACRES of which have been FELLED. The remainder is good forest land. There are a quantity of slabs upon the land, ready for building a cottage.

The farm is ABUNDANTLY WATERED in the driest seasons.

The farm is ABUNDANTLY WATERED in the driest seasons.
VERSELS CAN LOAD at the farm, there being a depth of 8 feet of water at the river bank.

WITH the vast increase in the population of the Manning District during the last few years, and the very high prices which have been obtained for land in that locality, stamp this property with a value which requires ne comment, and which is rendered more permanent by the regular steam communication now established with Sydney; thus affording rapid and easy transit both for passengers and all kinds of produce.

It is well knewn that the rich brush lands of this district cannot be surpassed by any in the colony, and point to it as destined to be ere long one of our principal grain depots. The opportunity of this sale abould not be lost sight of by any one wanting a REALLY GOOD FARM within easy secses of our principal markets.
